

Mark 1:21-28 Quiz

The people see Jesus as teaching with “authority.”

When the people hear Jesus teach with authority and see Jesus heal with authority, they’re “astounded/amazed” because this is something new. This is not at all like what they’ve experienced with the scribes. This teacher is _____.

Wesley said that you know a true Methodist because they are happy.

We need to take authority in our lives. We have authority because of who we are – children of God. Wesley said that as true Christians, we are _____ for sharing Christ with everyone we meet. If we do not do that, we are useless.

At our baptism, we were given the Holy Spirit. The authority that comes from God is given to us at our _____.

What more authority do we need to share Christ with those who do not know him? Take your authority and do something with it!

As a Christian, what do you have that a non-Christian would want? We need to out-live those who do not know Jesus as their Savior and Lord. We need to out-live them with everything we have and everything we do. We need to out-laugh them, out-happy them, _____ them, and so forth and so on. If we who have authority to tell our story and who know Jesus personally and who have the Holy Spirit with us every second of every day and who talk directly to God, do not have anything a non-Christian would want, what good are we? But, we who have the authority to tell our story, to tell about Jesus’ love for each and every one of us, to tell of God’s amazing grace, to tell of the Holy Spirit in our lives, must take our authority and live it – take our authority and _____ anyone who does not have Jesus as their Savior. It is for us to show them that we have something in our lives that they want in their lives.

We are to use our genuine authority to bring people to him.

When we distance ourselves from God and God’s help and expect the world to become a better place, we are not utilizing all God has given us – our full _____.
